

LAUREL CLAIMS CITY CHAMPIONSHIP ON THE GIRDIRON AFTER VICTORY

The Laurel school claims the football championship in the city schools after defeating the Frankliln school by a score of 39 to 0. The lineup was as follows:

Laurel school	Position	Franklin
Jess Murphy	r. end	Clifford Abbott
Evan Dougherty	r. tackle	Mur. Decker
Jay King	r. guard	Glen Fritz
Harold Pull	center	Joe Price
Fred Pfeifer	l. guard	Elzie Decker
Orville Dake	l. tackle	Richard Crane
George Garnick	l. end	Orville Nelson
Albert Moore	quarter	Bob Downs
Alley McMurray	fullback	John Odle
Raymond "Pug" Wolfe	r. h.	S. Neff
Lawrence Murphy	left half	N. Menser

Albert Moore was the star of the game making four of the touchdowns for the Laurel team thru his speed and ability to spear forward passes. Kenneth Lokey of the high school officiated at the game. Earlier in the season Laurel defeated Remington 12 to 6 and as Laporte has refused to play them the Laurel team feels that it is the undisputed champion of the local grade schools.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING FOR THE NEW SCHOOL ADDITION
[Laurel School, Fort Collins, Colo]

"Superintendent Miller and local teachers will be glad when the new school building, now in the process of construction at the corner of Peterson and Laurel streets, is completed.

The general public has no idea under what difficulties the superintendent and his corps of assistants are laboring. Nearly every room has at least fifty pupils seated therein... twenty more than any room should have for good work. Some of the larger rooms contain from seventy to eighty pupils. One teacher is obligated to have charge of these different aggregations and is it at all surprising that each pupil does not get the attention he should?

Some Fort Collins teachers work hard from eight o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. This is rather strenuous and ought not to be. If the new building was completed, the greater number of school rooms would have more scholars than any pedagogue can handle satisfactorily. With a reasonable allowance for growth in city population, conditions will be about as congested next year at this time, even with the use of another building. The times certainly warrant the erection of another building the coming summer, but will it be built?

It is authentically stated that several teachers in the local schools have grown tired of piloting the American youth: that they have plighted troth with lovers and before next September will have become wives."

LAUREL SCHOOL HISTORY

The Laurel school was built in 1906, when Franklin and Remington schools had proven too small to hold the school population of Fort Collins. It seemed then that Laurel was a long way from the downtown district. As there were few houses in the vicinity it was a question whether or not the town would build out to the school. But the board thought that it would so the school building was erected. The site was purchased from Mr. Perry Harrington. The board wanted large school grounds but thought it wiser not to spend any more of the peoples' money. The board was first going to build a four room building, but the fact that Franklin and Remington buildings were so rapidly filling up caused them to erect an eight room building. The first year Laurel had all eight grades. The second year the vicinity was so thickly populated they had to use the two basement rooms to continue some of the grades. This lasted until 1922 when the Junior

LAUREL SCHOOL

AGAIN WINS OUT

The Laurel school is again the proud possessor of the silver loving cup offered by the Excelsior Literary society for the winner in the annual track and field meet among public schools of Fort Collins, athletes of that school having scored a total of 44 points in the meet held yesterday afternoon on the high school field. Laporte was second with a total of 33 points, while the Remington school was third with 29 points in their favor. The cup was offered three years ago and at that time was won by the Laurel school. In 1913 it was won by Laporte who have had possession of it since, but it will now be returned to the Laurel school. Should it be won by Laurel again next year it will become their permanent property.

The attendance was large at yesterday's meet, and interest great in each of the many events. Some excellent records were made by the young athletes.

The Courier slipped a cog in announcing the recent addition to Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Crain's family and converted a boy into a girl. It was a bouncing big boy that came to bless their home, giving them a pair of Jacks, which is a pretty good hand to draw to.

The brickwork on the superstructure of the new school building on Laurel street will be commenced Monday. It is expected that the corner stone will be laid Tuesday or Wednesday. There will be no formal exercises as are common in such instances, but the board of education will place a copper box, containing records and various other documents, inside the stone. The building will be hastened toward completion as rapidly as possible.

On the application of Garbutt & Clammer, filed in the district court last Saturday, for the appointment of a referee to take testimony in the adjudication of water rights in district No. 4, on the Laramie river and its tributaries, Judge Garrigues named Judge J. Mack Mills as such referee. Judge Mills has fixed upon Monday, March 5th, as the day for opening a referee's court at the hotel in Gleneyre.

GOOD ADVICE

Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of The Christian Advocate, acknowledged to be one of the greatest intellects in the Methodist church, in an editorial under the caption "How to Decide for What and Whom to Vote," which appeared in the Advocate on October 15th, gives excellent advice to citizens on the subject of voting. From this editorial we reprint the following excerpts:

In almost every election in which dangerous theories prevail and evil-minded men secure office the "many-at-home" churches and moral and intellectual men, as well as some of those whom neglect has taught to think themselves of little account, are responsible for the success of the unscrupulous politician in this city is reported to have said, "I don't care for the church people. They won't come out in the rain. The men and women and their customers settle the election."

The man who deliberately neglects to vote is not a patriot. Nor is he a conscientious citizen if he fails to use so great a power for good.

Choosing One's Party.

Intelligent and conscientious voting requires a citizen to decide for himself for whom and for what he will vote. At various times we have found this no light task. One not being pleased with the presidential candidate of the party with which we were then most closely allied, we concluded not to vote, and usually indicated an approval in the neighborhood that we should spend election day in visiting a friend in another city. She asked if we should vote before going. We answered, "No." It is impossible to forget the only heated argument with which she said, "I think if I have a man I would vote for someone or something." This forced the decision and the ballot was cast.

Usually there are two great parties representing opposite or diverse policies. If one has chosen his party with honest care—in ordinary situations—party ticket, government cannot be carried on successfully by accidentals, reactions, or capricious changes of policy of haphazard leaping from one party to another.

An intelligent young man in deciding on his party, if not familiar with the history of both, should turn to some trustworthy source for the facts and principles. He should then read their last three or four presidential platforms—note now the party in power carried out its promises.

Certainly he has no reason to turn to the party in agreement with his views. If there is a third or fourth party established on the principle which his own party is silent or wavering, but not definitely identified with the principles of his party, or in favor of some doctrines which he conscientiously opposes, he has to consider what he could accomplish by voting with such a party, as to its future possibilities, or what might be the result if his own party were defeated and the other great party placed in power. Where plurality of votes decides, in favor of one party, it is better to vote with such a party, as to its future possibilities, or what might be the result if his own party were defeated and the other great party placed in power. Where plurality of votes decides, in favor of one party, it is better to vote with such a party, as to its future possibilities, or what might be the result if his own party were defeated and the other great party placed in power.

LAUREL STREET TEACHERS' PLEASANT RECEPTION TO PARENTS

The members of the school board, Superintendent Miller and the teachers at the Laurel street building, were the guests of the parents who met at a pleasant reception Saturday afternoon. There was a large number of parents present who inspected the new building and talked with the teachers regarding the work of the young pupils. A delightful program had been arranged, and many names rendered in Miss Allen's room.

Miss Pickard and Miss McCall sang for the only band directed and supervised by the school. An interesting paper on "Drawing and Other Crafts," by Miss Weirburg, head of the drawing department in the school. Principle Widler gave a reading, and then Superintendent Miller made a few remarks, as did also Mrs. Myron H. Allen, director of the school, both emphasizing the need of good work in the schools and the hearty cooperation of the parents to have their children do their best in their daily studies.

Miss Lank sang a contralto solo, being in the most excellent voice. Refreshments were served and the party departed, feeling they had spent two most profitable hours.

He that goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing.

AN AGED CITIZEN CANCELS THE DEBT OF NATURE

William H. Workman, for many years a highly respected citizen of Fort Collins, died at 8:45 o'clock on Sunday morning, November 4th, at his home, 217 East Mulberry street, aged nearly 72 years.

Mr. Workman came to Colorado in 1849, settling in the Little Thompson valley, where he lived near a store of years engaged in the stock business. He owned cattle in Colorado and Wyoming, selling his herds in the early '60s to the Swan Land & Cattle company, which failed shortly afterwards, leaving Mr. Workman holding the company's notes for $10,000, which have never been paid.

Mr. Workman was an honest, industrious man, courteous and kindly in his bearing towards all, and a most excellent citizen. Since losing his property he has sustained himself by manual labor, doing such odd jobs as one in his advanced years could do, with fidelity and the utmost faithfulness. If this kindly old man had an enemy in the world it was not because of any dishonest act or through any fault of his—everyone favored with his acquaintance having the highest confidence in and respect for him.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the late home of the deceased.

crises. The best figures fall some thousands short of the actual crop. Mr. Kilburn, manager of the Loveland Fruit Growers' association, who has been in charge of all the berry distribution, reports that the total crop, including the berries which were used locally and the shipments, was a little over 7,000 crates. The shipments from the city to various points throughout the state amounted to 4,000 crates, about 1,000 more than had been expected. The berries did not come in very fast, but they strung out well, the late harvest being the ones which survived the frost best. Prices continued throughout the entire season to be very good. The average price, including that paid for the soft and poorer class of fruit, as well as the best, was $1 per crate. While this has not been one of the most successful seasons, the fruit growers are distinctly pleased with the plan they have followed of handling their own berries rather than having them distributed through the commission houses.—Loveland Herald.

Miss Edith Wilson entertained a few friends at dinner Tuesday in honor of her friend, Miss Clara Collier of Kokuku, Iowa. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madden, Miss Lucinda Miller, Della Appleman, Stella Lee, Gertrude Altmuth and Effie Haverest.

Mrs. Newton Cronk entertained a few friends at cards one evening of this week, the occasion being in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Cross of Montrose, Colorado, who has been visiting here for a few days.

Mrs. George Clammer entertained in honor of Mrs. Talbot, her brother on Wednesday evening. Many of those present were formerly of Iowa. An excellent program was rendered by Miss Paul, Dr. Emalie, Mrs. Talbot, Matthew Auld, Annabelle Gray and Harry Brown.

The concert given by the Robley Male quartet on Monday evening was well attended. All the selections were well rendered and the boys were very generous with their music. Mr. Robley, the manager of the quartet, proved himself a fine reader and gave a great number of amusing recitations.

Mrs. A. R. Ross entertained the ladies of the W. C. T. U. at her home on West Mulberry, Tuesday afternoon. After a short business meeting Mrs. L. W. Pae read an excellent paper on "Medical Temperance." At 4 o'clock light refreshments were served. Several visitors were present—Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Kelsey, Mrs. T. Clarkson Taylor, Mrs. Webb of the Central Union at Pueblo.

Miss Millie Edmonds is entertaining a few girls this week at a house party. Those present are Misses Elizabeth May, Helen Phillips, Grace Wilson, Mabel Wesley, Lucille Davis, Nellie Thompson and Margaret Staller, all of Greeley and former friends of Miss Edmonds during the time her home was there.

Mrs. T. Clarkson Taylor entertained informally at dinner Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Yostler.

Mrs. E. L. Sauer entertained this afternoon at cards in honor of Mrs. Baker, who is her guest.

Mrs. L. W. Welch entertained Friday afternoon at her home on W. Olive in honor of Mrs. Atwell, who is soon to leave Fort Collins. Fancy needle work was the main feature of the afternoon, after which a dainty three-course luncheon was served. The floral decorations were very tastefully arranged, flowers of the season being used exclusively. Those present were Mesdames F. C. Avery, Dean, Hotel, C. H. Welch, Olga, Barker, F. N. B. Scott, P. Anderson, Warren, Hudson, Headon, Thomas, Secor, McGregor, T. Clarkson Taylor, Finzer, Miller, Walker, Ferris and Secord.

Mrs. Harry Wallace was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ross at dinner today. Mrs. Wallace is from New Mexico, but formerly lived in this place and, prior to her marriage, was employed by the Northern Electric Construction company. Mrs. Wallace left on the 2 o'clock train today for Denver, thence to her home.

BERRY CROP BIGGER THAN WAS EXPECTED

The raspberry season is well over now and the figures of this year's crop can be published in full. The expectations of the fruit growers were greatly exceeded, although the crop was, of course, only a fraction of the usual size. At the time following the late frosts it was feared that not enough raspberries to fill a bag would be raised. When the damage was investigated more thoroughly, however, some of the more optimistic horticulturists estimated that there would be five thousand or possibly a few more crises. The best figures fall some thousands short of the actual crop. Mr. Kilburn, manager of the Loveland Fruit Growers' association, who has been in charge of all the berry distribution, reports that the total crop, including the berries which were used locally and the shipments, was a little over 7,000 crates. The shipments from the city to various points throughout the state amounted to 4,000 crates, about 1,000 more than had been expected. The berries did not come in very fast, but they strung out well, the late harvest being the ones which survived the frost best. Prices continued throughout the entire season to be very good. The average price, including that paid for the soft and poorer class of fruit, as well as the best, was $1 per crate. While this has not been one of the most successful seasons, the fruit growers are distinctly pleased with the plan they have followed of handling their own berries rather than having them distributed through the commission houses.—Loveland Herald.

THE CITY SCHOOLS WILL OPEN TOMORROW

Full List of Teachers Employed in the Different Departments and Grades—Successful Year Promised.

(From Monday's Daily)

The public schools will open at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning with Superintendent E. F. Miller and a full corps of teachers in their respective schools. The teachers have all returned from their summer vacation and are ready for the work assigned them, which they are prepared to pursue with renewed vigor.

Present conditions appear favorable for a successful school year. The enrollment of pupils will be greater than ever before and present facilities will be stretched to the limit to accommodate all that will attend. The new school building on Laporte avenue is under contract to be completed and opened for use, January 15th next, when the board of education hopes to be able to relieve the pressure on present school room facilities. A division each of the 2nd and 4th grades will be taught in what used to be called the Remington annex, which has been moved to the Laporte avenue school site and overhauled, repaired and fitted up for immediate use.

- Unity Church.
Services opened Sunday, September 1st, most auspiciously. During the summer vacation the ladies of Unity circle had very thoughtfully and generously aided the choir and refitted the vestimentation; the windows were opened and the cool, fresh air was invigorated by a profusion of bouquets on and around the pulpit. Dr. Ward was in buoyant spirits and had chosen a timely theme appropriate for Labor day, "The Glorification of Work."

Labour day was first recognized about twenty-five years ago. A century ago the very word labour day would have sounded too absurd to think of. It all came from the curse pronounced on labor. "Cursed is the ground for thy sake. Thine also shall be thine curse shall it bring forth," and "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread all those return unto the ground."

But now labor is glorified. It is noble, honorable. We've grown away from those old times. Modern man has modern ways and modern thought; new appliances, new machinery; builds better roads; uses speedier methods of travel. Think of the amenities of man living in trees, for ages, subsisting on fruits; later coming down to live on the ground, and after a while began to use some of the animals as his food, then as pets, later as beasts of burden. It's a long way from a fish hook made from a bone to our more finished methods. Untold thousands of years have rolled away since man began his growth on the earth. But the labor problem now attracts the attention of all nations.

The instrumental music rendered during the service by Miss Viola Hunsaker, organist, and Prof. Perry Hill and Miss Briggs, recently from Iowa, was one of the very attractive features. The "Wanderer's Dream," by the two latter on their violins was especially fine. We hope to hear them often. —MCC.

Factors Telephone Fallacious. To the Editor of the Courier.

I want to record the movement that some of the papers have made recently to enforce better manners into the telephone business. It always has struck me as rather impudic for a person to ring up my number and then say, "Who's this?" I don't care to give my name till I know whose business it is, and have been sorely tempted to answer such callers with words to that effect. Let this good work go on till people learn to politely inquire, "Is this Mr. Jones?" In the mean time I don't mind to subscribe myself as SMITH.

FOUR LAME DUCKS THROWN INTO JAIL

(From Monday's Daily)

Deputy Sheriff Irving Lowery took Constable Francis Con. Sauer, Adam Mettaker and Phillip Crim into custody on warrants issued out of the county court, and lodged all four of them in the county jail today to await a hearing before Judge Bell tomorrow.

Pennig is charged with peddling without a license; Con. Sauer with keeping a disorderly house, and Mettaker and Crim with disturbing the peace. The accused are all residents of the "Jungle."

DISORDERLY FEELING EXPLODED OF COURT

(From Thursday's Daily)

Frank Day, who created a series of disturbances at the race track yesterday afternoon, was arrested by the sheriff's force at Prospect park, and on being arraigned before Magistrate Cooper last night was fined $10 in all. Day had once escaped with a nominal fine, had he not become abusive in the court room. It was necessary to inflict a fine of contempt of court and when his bill was figured up the total amounted to $10. Day, who had been drinking, received several warnings before he had arrested. He refused to heed the advice of the officers. He showed fight when an attempt was made to place him in custody, but two officers easily overpowered him and he was hurried down town in the patrol wagon, which is in use at the fair grounds.

METHODIST CHURCH WANTS REV. S. E. ELLIS RETURNED

At a recent session of the quarterly conference of the Methodist church held in this city, a resolution introduced by T. C. Ramey requesting the general conference to return Rev. S. E. Ellis to this charge for the coming year was unanimously adopted without discussion. Rev. Mr. Ellis has most acceptably served his congregation in this city and his friends not only among members of his own church, but also of all the other evangelical churches of the city, earnestly desire his return to this charge. The church has prospered financially and spiritually under Rev. Ellis' ministrations as it never prospered before and his people are unwilling to part with him. The rumor that Rev. Ellis desired to leave Fort Collins, had he desired his resignation, is altogether unfounded. He and his family are deeply attached to the people of this city, especially the Methodist congregation, and they have no wish to go away.
